SEO Execution Model

One Industry + One Executive Summary URL + Keyword Cluster + Niche Citation Engine

Old activity: build backlinks for Ken Research. New activity: build authority for every revenue-generating market page.

Internal SOP for SEO, Content, Tech, Automation and Branding Teams

Version 1.0 | May 2026

1. Executive Summary

This document defines the new page-level SEO execution model for Ken Research. The focus is no longer limited to generic backlinks, homepage submissions, company directory listings or broad branding visibility. The new model operates at the individual executive summary page level.

One industry -> one executive summary URL -> one keyword cluster -> one niche citation cluster -> daily 1-hour execution.

Every selected market page should be treated as an independent SEO landing page with its own keyword strategy, competitor audit, internal linking map, citation opportunity list, outreach tracker and weekly reporting rhythm.

What changes	Old model	New model
Target	Homepage, generic service pages, broad company profiles	Specific executive summary URLs and revenue-generating market pages
Backlink thinking	Build links for the brand	Build page-level authority for the exact market page
Keyword thinking	Generic market research keywords	Market, size, forecast, segmentation, competitor, report-buying and custom research keyword groups
Output	Directory submissions and activity counts	Rank movement, citations, internal links, page upgrades and leads
Operating rhythm	Ad hoc execution	Daily 1-hour focused execution with tracker update

2. Why This Strategy Matters for Ken Research

Ken Research generates business not only through generic searches like market research company, market research reports or consulting company. The larger opportunity comes from thousands of specific market searches where a buyer is already looking for market size, forecast, industry analysis, segmentation, competitive landscape, key players, investment opportunity, market entry or custom research support.

- KSA CRM Market
- Japan Luxury Skincare Market
- India Executive Education Market
- UAE QSR Market
- Saudi Arabia Facility Management Market
- Indonesia Health Tech Market
- Global Logistics and Warehousing Market
- India Used Car Market
- GCC Cold Chain Market
- Philippines E-Commerce Market

These are not just SEO pages. They are lead-generation assets. Each executive summary URL needs its own SEO and citation strategy because the searcher usually has clear commercial or research intent.

3. Core Principle

Do not build generic backlinks only for Ken Research. Build niche-specific citations for the exact market page.

For a page like KSA CRM Market, the SEO team should not only submit the Ken Research homepage. The team should identify CRM software directories, Saudi Arabia technology platforms, Middle East SaaS portals, enterprise software blogs, CRM vendor listicles, B2B software directories, report listing platforms and Saudi business resource pages where the exact KSA CRM Market executive summary URL can be cited or submitted.

4. Branding Practice vs Revenue SEO Practice

Practice	Includes	Purpose	Example
Branding practice	Company profiles, general business directories, PR mentions, consulting directories, podcast profiles, social profiles,	Build overall brand/entity authority	Ken Research listed as a global market intelligence and consulting firm

	founder mentions
Revenue SEO practice	Individual market page optimization, page-level citations, niche resource submissions, keyword clusters, internal links	Rank specific market pages and generate leads	KSA CRM Market submitted or cited on Saudi CRM / enterprise software resources

Both practices are useful, but they serve different objectives. Brand-level backlinks support entity trust. Page-level niche citations support ranking and leads for executive summary pages.

5. One Industry Selection Process

Do not start with 100 pages together. Start with one industry and one live executive summary URL. Build the full system, learn from execution and then replicate it across additional pages.
